GOLD FOR ITALY

Monica Buratti and Carlo Mariani earn first place for home country silver for France – bronze for Russia

Carlo Mariani, Monica Buratti, Italy

Far from feeling the pressure of being in front, the overnight leaders put together a 64.42% score to win the second session and with it the gold medal for the host nation. Congratulations to Monica Buratti and Carlo Mariani. The silver medal was won by Marlene and Michel Duguet of France and the bronze by Elena Maitova and Tim Zlotov of Russia.

Gianarrigo Rona, President of EBL, gives his farewell to the participants of the 6th European Mixed Pairs Championship in Bellaria

Dear friends,

We have now reached the end of the first part of the Championships with the prize-giving for the Pairs.

This edition of the Pairs, inaugurating the activity of European Bridge in the new Millennium, has been particularly successful. There has been a record number of participants with 456 pairs taking part and 35 countries represented — another record-breaker. In addition, we have had 70 European and World champions here, making this one of the most important Championships technically-speaking.

The EBL has made every effort, despite the lack of an official sponsor, to make this event a successful and attractive one running smoothly on a technical level. I hope we have succeeded in this.

I wish to thank all of you present here in such large numbers. I would like to thank you for your sportsmanship, fair play and the spirit of friendship with which you participated. In the course of the whole competition there have been only eight Appeals, indicating that you have played well and in the correct manner, not forgetting, of course, our Technical Directors! My applause and appreciation (and yours too, I am sure) goes to all of them, led with professionalism by Claude Dadoun, and also to the staff, co-ordinated by Ghigo Ferrari and Ton Kooijman.

To everyone leaving us today I wish you "Bon Voyage", a happy return home and pleasant memories of this Championship of which you were true protagonists.

At the same time, I hope that many of you will stay on here with us in Bellaria to participate in the Teams Championship and to continue enjoying our magnificent discipline.

We have been recognised by the IOC as a sport, in all respects, and I am extremely happy and proud that thanks to you this Championship has demonstrated that we really do deserve this recognition.

Thank you all again and I hope to see you soon. Arrivederci.

An old-fashioned double

Defensive bidding against INT has grown very conventional during recent years. Therefore it was a pleasure to see the old-fashioned style in action again yesterday morning.

Board 17. North Dealer, None Vul.

♠ A 10 2 ♥ A Q 6 2 ♦ K 10 5 2 ♣ Q J	♠ 3 ♥ 8 5 3 ♦ 9 8 3 ♣ K 9 7 6 4 3	♠ Q 9 8 7 ♥ J 10 9 ♠ Q J 4 ♣ 10 8 2	♠ K J 6 5 4 ♥ K 7 4 ♦ A 7 6 ♣ A 5

East's double showed some values, and West decided to sit for it. Three rounds of hearts gave the defence a good start. Helgemo, on lead to trick four, could see the possible danger of the spade suit, so he shifted to the ♦K! It did not really matter this time, but it always is a good thing to see a top-class player leading a spectacular, but logical card. Down three gave the Norwegians 148 MPs.

A silver hand

The Duguets won the second session and, as a result, rose to second place overall, coming from about 30th. On the board below, Michel Duguet found a nice play to bring home a very high and dangerous contract.

East's only safe lead was a spade, but that loses a tempo. On the actual heart lead, dummy's ♥Q scored a trick, but declarer still was far from home. He ran the ♦J, ducked by Fischer. Next came a spade to the queen and ace. Now, if declarer continues spades, West will get the lead to push a club through. From the way the play went, Michel deduced that East had ducked the ♦K, so he continued with the ♦A and another. East, on lead again, could only play another heart to declarer's ace. When the ♠J brought down the nine, the spades were good with the ♣A still there. Nicely played on the way to a fine silver medal.

MIXED Final Session One PAIRS

As previously mentioned, pairs events are usually decided on the partscore battlefield, and it seemed that I was to see nothing but partscore battles as I sat down to watch the first session of the pairs final. First up were the top Italian pairing of Norberto Bocchi and Gabriela Olivieri facing Geir Helgemo and Ase Langeland.

Helgemo did not manage to get his hearts into the picture—not that it mattered—but he did show a good overcall by bidding a second time. He led the king of clubs to the ace and Olivieri crossed to a top diamond to lead a spade up. Helgemo won his ace, perforce, and played two more rounds of clubs, Langeland ruffing with the queen as declarer pitched a heart from hand. There was just one heart to lose; +140.

Along came the Croatian pairing of Tonci Tomic and Nikica Sver. They reached the popular contract of Three Clubs and Olivieri cashed two top spades then switched to a low heart. Sver gave that a look before playing dummy's king. She was clearly tempted by the play of running the heart to her ten, the winning move if the jack was onside and the diamond finesse was also working as there would be an extra heart trick to take care of the third diamond. Just as well that she resisted the temptation, of course, as playing low would lead to defeat. As it was, she made nine tricks by getting the club right for a normal +110.

Despite the fact that East/West have a ten-card heart fit, when it might well have been only nine on the auction, the winning move opposite Bocchi's second competitive double would have been to pass, collecting the magic +200. Given that Three Spades is sure to be only a 5-2 fit, perhaps Pass is the indicated action with such a balanced hand and extra high-card values.

In Three Spades, Tomic led a heart and Sver won and switched to a trump to the ten, ducked. Olivieri played a spade to the king then a club to her queen. When that held she cashed the spade ace and cleared the clubs, losing a heart but pitching her third diamond on the clubs for nine tricks; +140.

Had Sver played a second heart at trick two, forcing dummy to ruff, declarer could then have unblocked the spades and played a club. She will be OK as long as she simply cashes the ace of spades then leaves trumps alone, accepting two trump losers. If she tries to draw the trumps, playing for an even division of the suit, she will be forced and lose control.

Finally I see my first normal game contract of the day. Nissan Rand led a spade against Three No Trump. Sophie Waksman won the ace and returned a spade. Helgemo won and crossed to the king of hearts to take the club finesse. Rand cleared the spades and Helgemo just ran his winners. That squeezed Rand out of a diamond to keep the spade guard so that declarer did not have to think when he eventually turned his attention to diamonds; +460.

North/South were on different wavelengths on this one, South expecting to find her partner with a much better hand for his double than Two Heart combination. I am with her, of course. However, after a diamond lead, declarer can succeed if he just plays on hearts immediately to establish that suit. He will eventually make a black trick for his ninth, playing West for the club king.

In real life, however, declarer went astray. He won the nine of diamonds at trick one and immediately ran the ten of clubs to the doubleton king. Knowing that there was no future in diamonds, Helgemo played three rounds of spades. Declarer unblocked to win the third round in dummy and ran the nine of hearts to Langeland's queen. She cashed the thirteenth spade for down one and an excellent result for East/West when they were booked for a terrible score had the game been made.

One Club was strong and One Heart two-way, either natural or big and balanced. One Spade relayed and One No Trump showed 20-22 balanced. The opening lead was the ace of diamonds, which collected the five from North. It is not clear what layout requires a club switch from South but that is what was chosen. Sver could win, draw trumps and play off the clubs for a diamond pitch and twelve tricks; +680 and a big score for East/West.

Waksman made the good lead of a low trump — I spotted at least one table where a heart honour was chosen. Sver won and ran the jack of diamonds to South's ace. South played ace and another spade and Sver won and ran the ten of hearts to the queen. A club switch was won by the ace. Sver cashed a hopeful diamond king now — no luck — then tried a sneaky heart nine. That slipped past South but the king was still guarded so a heart had to be lost plus a diamond; eight tricks for +110.

Deep Finesse

Many of you will be aware that we sometimes check our analysis of a deal on the brilliant double dummy software analyser, Deep Finesse. On the deal we report below, the machine was quick to spot the winning defence and the play found by the declarer. Of course, she could only see 26 cards!

Geir Helgemo knows a brilliant play when he sees one, and he is usually the man in the spotlight. On this deal from the final qualifying session of the Mixed Pairs it was his partner who pulled the rabbit out of a hat.

Two Clubs showed 5-5 in the unbid suits.

South led the ace of diamonds, and switched to the jack of spades. When declarer played low, North won with the ace and could have defeated the contract by returning the suit, paving the way for a spade ruff when South comes in with the ace of trumps. However, he preferred to force the dummy with a diamond. Åse Langeland ruffed with the two of hearts then played the five from dummy. When North produced the four, she calmly followed with the three! This spectacular play left the defenders without resource, as whatever they do at this point, North will end up being trump coupé.

Kiss of Death - Part Two

Twelve of the 16 pairs I mentioned as ones to watch made it through to the final. Here they are with their finishing positions in brackets. You will see that my anonymous friend also qualified in some comfort, showing that paying me off to not mention him was very worthwhile. Note also that Ewa Miszewska made it despite a change of partner from the original list.

How to qualify for the final

Before the start of the last qualifying session, an interesting problem arose. Which pairs to follow? Which horses to bet on? It would be difficult for the leading pairs from overnight to drop out of the qualification zone, but one or two of the world's best mixed pairs started the day in great danger of NOT qualifying. Take for example the World Mixed Pairs Champions, Enza Rossano and Antonio Vivaldi, who won their title in the 1998 World Championships in Lille. As they are an Italian pair, an intriguing side problem came along as well. If the Bulletin were to report about them, would it be in Italian or in a more generally understood language and why?

The first board looked very quiet:

Of course, 1♣ showed 16+ HCP. And 1♦ was negative. On the lead of the ♦Q, Rossano made a quiet overtrick. She ruffed a diamond, ran the ♥10 and led up to her ♣K. East could win her ace and give her partner a diamond ruff, but that was all for the defence. Plus 110 was an excellent 334 MPs for N/S.

On the next board, N/S missed the chance to wipe out the rest of their overnight deficit:

West made the very normal lead of the ♣Q, ducked all round. South won the heart continuation in dummy and led a low diamond, on which East, after only a slight consideration, nearly invisible for South at the other side of the screen, played her ace! When she next missed the chance to beat the contract by switching to a low club but led a spade instead, declarer suddenly had a chance. All she needed to do was to win the spade in dummy and lead another diamond intending to go up with the queen. When East followed suit with the nine, she played low from her hand and thus changed a possible score of 395 into a meagre 63 for one down.

It did not hurt them very much, however. On the next board, East heard her opponents bid 1♥-(Pass)-4♥- and decided she was not to be bluffed away from the table. Holding ♠KJ10985 ♥K5 ♦J103 ♣75 she overcalled 4♠ only to go down 800 for a score of just 0.01 MPs. Vivaldi-Rossano were back on schedule with 413.99 MPs their way.

More disasters were to follow for their opponents. With too much aggression, falling for a Chinese finesse and forgetting Blackwood they created bad results for themselves really out of nothing.

Statistics

The host country have 46 representatives in the 156 pair final, France have 26. Next come Germany and Poland with 14 each. England have 7, Austria and Croatia 5. Also represented in the finals are Belgium, Denmark, Sweden (all 4), Israel, the Netherlands, Russia, Turkey (3), Bulgaria, Iceland, Norway, San Marino, Switzerland (2), Finland, Ireland and Luxembourg. Two transnational pairs, French-Israeli and French-Dutch, make up the line-up.

Well, 4♠ is not such a good contract at first sight, but after this bidding sequence most of the missing high cards will be well placed. For this reason, 3♦ went no less than three off for +500 to N/S and a quite satisfactory score of 373 MPs — ample compensation for the ‘missed’ vulnerable game.

West made the second best lead of a low trump away from his ace. Declarer won in hand, crossed in clubs and presented the Q. When this held (!), another diamond went to the jack and the ♦A took care of dummy's losing heart. Now the scene was set for a nice little cross-ruff. Declarer just conceding her last heart and the ♠A in the end. Eleven tricks were worth 331 more MPs.

Here, 1♣ was (possibly) strong and 3♠ was an obvious pre-empt. We will never know why East did not take the trouble to politely enquire about any possible aces in partner's hand. As it was, they could not run away, so the Italian horses had another 405 MPs in the bag.

Time for a costly mistake again.

South found the best lead: a low trump. This should open the way to down two or even three, vulnerable. Declarer wins and plays on clubs. You win the second round and continue trumps. Declarer wins and cashes a good club, throwing a spade. You ruff, and play ♠A and another. Partner wins his king and continues a club to promote your last trump and give you a club, two trumps, two spades and the two remaining diamonds, if declarer throws a diamond on the fourth round of clubs. This defence was missed at the table as the contract went only down one. The MPs difference was enormous. Down one was just average, 201 MPs, but down two would have netted 343 MPs.

However, after this reasonable enough start, Vivaldi-Rossano went on to score over 60% for the session and rise to the 78th qualifying spot.

MIXED Final Session Two PAIRS

Carlo Mariani and Monica Buratti took a useful lead into the second session of the Mixed Pairs final. They had a mixed start to the session but were soon moving along nicely again.

The Italians bid smoothly to Three No Trump played by North, Mariani. He won the heart lead in dummy and led a club to his king then a low club back to dummy. East went in with the queen of clubs, crashing her partner's ace. Oops! That was 11 tricks for +460 and the perfect start to the session for our leaders.

At another table, Larissa Panina and Michael Rosenblum of Russia were defending the same contract. Larissa led the jack of diamonds and declarer erred by running this to his own hand, winning with the king. Now he tried a low club towards dummy's jack. Panina thought about that for a bit but then came to the correct answer. This time it was right for East to rise with the queen of clubs. Panina did so and played a second diamond. Rosenblum could win and return a small diamond to establish a second trick for himself in the suit and hold declarer to nine tricks. -400 was worth 140 MPs to the Russian pair.

I am not exactly sure what the East/West bidding meant but what I can say is that it pushed the leaders to an uncomfortable level. West led the ace of clubs and switched to a spade. Monica Buratti ducked that and back came a second spade to her queen. She overtook with the ace to play a winning club, pitching a diamond. Another club was ruffed with the ten and over-ruffed. Buratti played the ♥K to the ace and Martorelli switched to a diamond for the queen and ace. Buratti seems to have lost track of the heart spots now because she tried a low heart to the seven, losing to the nine, and was three down; -300.

Facing a potentially prepared club, Buratti was not worth an immediate raise but, when her opponents found their heart fit, she competed with Three Clubs. That pushed the French pair up a level but it did not matter as there were nine comfortable tricks for +140 to East/West — a normal result.

played the other top club to throw a diamond. Buratti ruffed and switched to ace and another diamond, declarer ruffing. She played a heart to the ace and continued with a diamond, ruffed by Mariani with the jack. Feretti discarded a heart so Mariani cashed his king of hearts and played the jack of clubs, ruffed and over-ruffed. Buratti played a diamond at trick 11 and Mariani ruffed in with the ten, forcing the ace from declarer. That left Buratti with the king and nine of trumps for the last two tricks; three down for -300.

Declarer could have done better by playing on trumps immediately, but she is probably always two down, which is only a little better in matchpoint terms.

The leaders received a free gift when Feretti badly misplayed a normal game contract. She won the club lead with her ten, unblocked the diamond queen and played the king of hearts and a heart to the ace. She threw two spades on the top diamonds then ruffed a diamond. Now she gave up a spade but Buratti ducked, allowing Mariani to win his king and cash the queen of hearts then force dummy with a spade. Mariani had to follow to one club winner now but could ruff the next one and had a spade to cash for one down; -50.

Declarer should concede a spade early, thereby retaining control. The defence does not get the opportunity to draw a round of trumps and comes to just two hearts and one spade.

Two Hearts was a constructive spade raise. Surprisingly, given his partner's double of two Hearts, Mariani led the king of clubs. That looked bad for the defence as Dano De Falco was able to win the ace and lead a club towards the jack. Mariani won and switched to a heart and De Falco rose with the ace and pitched his heart loser on the club jack. Declarer played a diamond to the queen, and continued with ace and a third diamond. Mariani won the jack and forced declarer with a heart. De Falco ducked a spade next to the nine and was forced again. He cashed the spade ace and had to lose a second spade; nine tricks for +140.

Although it looks as though the opening lead has given a trick, even the best defence of a heart lead and club switch does not save a trick as declarer does not get forced to the same extent so is able to hold his trump losers to one.

If you are playing this hand in the wrong denomination, e.g. in no trump, you should stick to the old adage of cashing your long suit tricks first, as you never can tell what will happen if the defenders have to find discards prematurely. This is what we saw at Helgemo's table. In fourth position, Helgemo opened INT a little off-shape, and played there.

He got his first present when North led a normal enough ♣K. He won the ace and followed this by the ♠A and ♠8 to the jack, queen and king. So far, so good. South returned a club which North ducked. Winning dummy's ♣J, Helgemo went on by cashing his two spades, ending in dummy. North, however, had to find two discards. As he did not want to throw a club, he opted for a heart (O.K.) and a diamond (less O.K.). Next came a diamond from dummy, on which South went up with her king. After some consideration, Helgemo eventually deduced he did not have very much of a choice. In spades, you will get 140 or even 170, so 120 is not enough to beat that. He won the ♦A and continued the ♦Q. When all the outstanding cards of that suit appeared, there suddenly were 11 tricks for +210 and 136 MPs instead of 63 MPs for +120 or 95 MPs for +140.

Two Clubs was either strong balanced or strong with clubs. Two Diamonds was a relay and Three Clubs showed the long club variety. Three Diamonds was essentially natural, as was Three No Trump. When Mariani invited slam, Buratti was happy to accept, no doubt liking in particular her diamond fit.

It all depended on the opening lead, of course, and the spade lead was just too tough. De Falco led a diamond and Buratti soon claimed all 13 tricks for +1470 and a huge score.

There was still a long way to go, but I left the Italians looking good for the title if they could just hold their form.

On this board, there were interesting variations at other tables, too. This is how N/S bid the hand against Helgemo/Langeland:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2♥	Pass	2♣
Pass	3♦	Pass	3♣
Pass	4NT	All Pass	3NT

Well, maybe, 3NT is not everybody's choice, but for once N/S were in the proper contract. When South resisted the temptation to go beyond the ten-trick level, N/S had stayed out of danger, but they may have given a clue to Helgemo about the right lead. Out came a low spade to the king, and the spade return gave the defenders three tricks and an excellent score of 128 MPs.

If you accept the invitation and go to slam, you should stick to no trump. This is what happened when South elected to play in a suit:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2♦	Pass	2♣
Pass	3♣	Pass	2NT
Pass	4NT	Pass	3NT
All Pass		Pass	6♣

This time, West had no trouble in finding the lead of the ♠A. East managed to encourage the suit, so the 'wrong' slam quickly was one down.

Small Slam, Grand Slam

When there are eight, there are nine is reputedly the best attitude to bidding and making (!) no trump games. Does the same rule apply to slams in no trumps? Well, maybe yes, maybe no. Sometimes, an ace or two is missing, which distinctly effects your chances of making a grand. More often than not, it's the play that is the thing. Look at Board 11:

Suppose you are in 7NT on the lead of the ♥J. What should you do? You can count 12 top tricks. The ♠Q may come down doubleton, there is the chance of the club finesse working, and finally, there are squeeze possibilities. It definitely looks best to cash the ♠AK (double Vienna Coup) followed by the top hearts, throwing a spade and a club, before the diamonds enter the scene. On the last diamond, this will be the position:

♠ — ♥ 3 ♦ — ♣ A Q	<table style="margin: auto; border: 1px solid black; background-color: black; color: white; padding: 5px;"> <tr><td style="padding: 2px;">N</td></tr> <tr><td style="padding: 2px;">W E</td></tr> <tr><td style="padding: 2px;">S</td></tr> </table>	N	W E	S	♠ Q ♥ J ♦ — ♣ K
♠ — ♥ 8 ♦ — ♣ J 7	♠ J ♥ — ♦ 3 ♣ 9

Best defence for East is to blank the ♣K early. If not, East will have discarded the ♥J to keep the ♣K guarded, in which case West must hold on to the ♥8 at trick 11. So you discard your last heart and West discards a club. When West follows suit with the jack to the club from dummy at trick 12., it is all too obvious that West will hold a heart as his last card, in which case the squeeze has worked. So up you go with the ♣A to drop the king and score 1520 for your contract. Nine pairs scored 1520 for 146 MPs and another 22 made 13 tricks in 6NT. Ten pairs managed just 12 tricks in 6NT and the remarkable number of 29 pairs went down in 7NT, some of them two when they missed the squeeze.

CASA NOSTRA

Pensieri e parole ...

Per un popolo di nottambuli, finire di giocare alle nove di sera significa dover trovare il modo di passare il tempo fino alle ore piccole.

Perciò: karaoke all'Oktoberfest, cene in qualche bel ristorante, partite "albergalinghe" e chiacchiere, tante chiacchiere.

E di cosa volete che si parli mentre si sta giocando un misto? Elementare... dell'"inferiorità" delle donne nella nostra disciplina e dei motivi della stessa. Sul punto che le donne giochino peggio degli uomini, nulla quaestio. Sul perchè, invece, c'è molto da discutere.

Tra coloro che ieri sera parlavano dell'argomento, la più restia ad accettare il dato di fatto era Mabel Bocchi, la più grande cestista italiana di sempre.

Si chiedeva perchè in una disciplina che non ha niente di fisico, gli uomini ancora una volta debbano essere superiori alle donne. "Superiori, e non di poco", rincarava la dose l'azzurra Gabriella Olivieri. Alla fine Mabel ha dovuto arrendersi di fronte ai dati, ma nessuno è riuscito, in realtà, a darle una spiegazione migliore del "Così è, che a te piaccia o no".

A mio giudizio, ogni volta che si cerca di elocubrare sul perchè di questa realtà incontestabile, si omette, a monte, di chiedersi un'altra cosa: quali sono le doti che rendono tale un forte bridgista? Soltanto dopo essersi dati una risposta a questa domanda, è possibile motivare questo perchè.

Cominciamo subito col togliere di mezzo la fortuna e l'intelligenza. La fortuna, che ha un ruolo determinante in ogni attività umana, quando decide di accompagnare qualcuno dalla culla alla tomba, lo fa senza tenere conto di sesso, razza, colore della pelle, religione o fede calcistica dei propri beneficiati. Quindi, sotto questo aspetto uomini e donne godono di par condicio. Passiamo al secondo argomento: l'intelligenza. In primo luogo non è affatto dimostrato che gli uomini siano più intelligenti delle donne, anzi; in secondo luogo, il quoziente intellettuale assoluto non è di certo direttamente proporzionale alle capacità bridgistiche.

Negli anni '70, anni di estremismi in tutti i campi, sostenevo che, al contrario, l'intelligenza fosse inversamente proporzionale all'attitudine nel nostro gioco. Ora che sono un moderato, mi limito a dire che non è, comunque, un fattore determinante.

Determinante è, invece, la capacità di raggiungere una concentrazione assoluta. Il riuscire a staccare completamente la spina è, senza dubbio, una dote della quale non può fare a meno chi vuole emergere nel nostro gioco. Ed è proprio in questo campo che, lo dico con tutta la simpatia possibile, le donne non reggono il confronto non tanto nel breve, quanto nel lungo termine. Sono più "umane", meno robot. Una grana sul lavoro, un figlio influenzato, un'amica in difficoltà, un amore finito non vengono mai, almeno a livello inconscio, dimenticati del tutto. E questo, a bridge, si paga.

Un altro fattore che al momento è ancora decisivo è quello "social-cromosomico".

Mi spiego: gli uomini hanno padri, nonni, bisnonni e antenati che hanno passato una parte più o meno lunga della loro vita in osterie, bar o salotti bene dove, comunque, si tenevano le carte in mano. Le donne hanno madri, nonne, bisnonne e avole varie che hanno passato una vita ad aspettarli, mandando intanto avanti una casa e una famiglia.

Questo è però un fattore che presto non inciderà più di tanto non perchè gentili donzelle cominceranno a frequentare bar e osterie (per altro sparite), ma perchè i ragazzi hanno smesso di farlo anche loro ormai da qualche anno. Insomma, un riavvicinamento dei valori è, a mio avviso, facilmente pronosticabile perchè questo secondo fattore causa, in passato, almeno parzialmente, del gap esistente, sta scomparendo completamente.

Il primo, quello della spina mai staccata, continuerà invece, e ciò non può che fare onore alle donne, ad incidere per sempre.

Il sistema è tipo napoletano (fiori forte, quadri ambiguo) con l'apertura di ISA 14/17. Ho detto troppo? Vi ho fatto capire la scelta di Mosca?

Carlo, quarto di mano, non volendo subire l'interferenza avversaria (leggi aprire per conto terzi), ha "sbarrato" con ISA. In fin dei conti, anche se non proprio canonica, questa è l'apertura che si avvicina di più in un colpo solo ai valori della sua mano.

La buona notizia è che con questa licita ha ottenuto quello che desiderava, il silenzio avversario. La cattiva notizia è che "lo sbarramento" ha azzittito anche la compagna. Nel contratto di ISA la sette prese realizzate sono state poca cosa rispetto al parziale a picche. Bisognava aprire di a colore?

Contract:

Two No Trumps, played by West.

Lead:

Three of hearts.

Result:

9 tricks, +150 to East/West.

The Facts:

Two No Trump was explained by West to South as showing support in Spades and a maximum. Before the lead, North asked and was led to believe it showed only two spades. North said he would have led a club if he had known there were three spades in West's hand.

The Director:

Found that there had been misinformation, but that the club lead was uncertain even with the correct information. The Director applied Law 12C3, as per the authorisation provided to him by the Appeals' Committee and the WBF Code of Practice adopted by the EBL for its tournament regulations.

Ruling:

Score adjusted to:

For East/West (offending side): Two No Trump making eight tricks, -120.

For North/South (non-offending side): a weighted score, 50% of Two No Trumps making eight tricks, +120, and 50% of Two No Trump making nine tricks, +150.

East/West appealed.

The Players:

West explained that they had decided that after the One No Trump overall, the system would be the same as after an opening of One No-Trump. East said she had forgotten this, and tried to explain this to North. East stated she had said "we have not discussed".

North maintained that East had not used the word "discussed" and that he had understood "he has no three spades".

West argued that the lead of a heart is a consequence of North-South's system in which the opening of One Club could be done on a two-card holding, and there was therefore no damage. The lead was a guess regardless of the explanation.

North stated that if he knows West has three spades (or even four), partner must have clubs.

The Committee:

Found that there had indeed been misinformation. The explanation had obviously not been written down, which would have solved some of the problems. But anyway, regardless of whether East had said "no three spades" or "no agreement", the call did actually show three cards in spades, and North had not been told this.

The Committee agreed with the Director that the lead of clubs was not obvious, but that, knowing that South would have at most two Spades it becomes more likely.

The Committee felt that some weighted score was the correct ruling, and that the correct weight for the score of 120 ought to lie somewhere between 50% and 100%.

The Committee did not find that the appealing side merited a substantial change from the score they had received from the Director, whereas their opponents should not receive any higher score either, considering that they had not appealed.

The Committee's Decision:

Director's decision upheld.

Relevant Laws:

Law 75A, Law 12C3, Code of Practice.

Deposit:

Returned.

Committee's Note:

The Committee had remarked that, left to itself, it would probably not have offered a different adjusted score for each side.

Subsequent Comment:

In subsequent discussion between Tournament Appeal's Committee members it became apparent that the Committee might have fallen short of its true action by not changing the Director's ruling to a single weighted score for both sides.

Committee members have suggested that the equity position to which Law 12C3 refers is the same for both sides, and that there is an argument, especially in a pairs event, to apply a pro-
